to burn

to bite all round

all-tearful

fringed all round

things bound round, bracelets with two right hands, very dextrous to look round about one

disputed

to moisten all around

to be put round, fitted closely round to lie in wait for

to agitate violently

to be doubtful

with doubtful mind

quite flayed

as large as can be grasped running round, encompassing, inclosing having torn both cheeks

torn on both sides

two-fold, double

to put on

rowed on both sides

to put round

to go about, be all round, encompass

a garment

to sit on, settle upon

joined from both sides

with sea on both sides, sea-girt blooming on both sides

to be in full bloom

to warm on both sides

a double theatre, amphitheatre that will stand on both ends to run round about

sharpened on both sides, two-edged

clotted round

with double entrance to cover all round, enwrap, enfold

to cleave asunder

to lie round

to shear all round

with pillars all round

broken all round

washed on both sides by the waves

to tend on all sides
